Local steel workers locked out

Negotiations
come to halt
on new deal

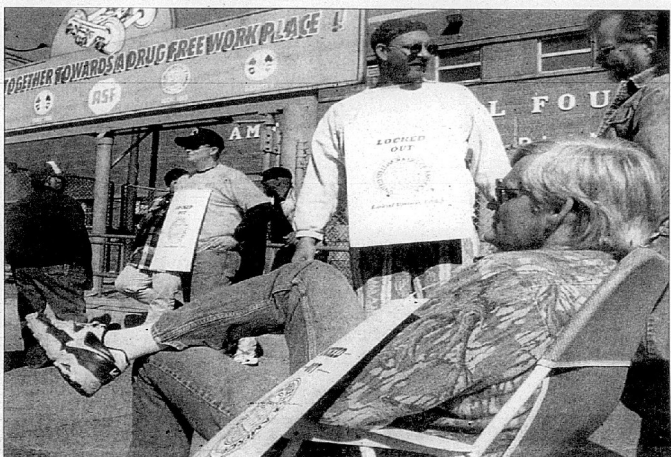

By Mike Heil
Staff writer

A little more than 30 employees from American Steel Foundries, 700 Walnut Ave., hit the picket line in front of the plant's main entrance Tuesday morning after 720 fellow employees from United Steelworkers of America Local 1063 were locked out Monday.

"We're ready and willing to go back to work. We don't want to be locked out," said Gary Walston, staff representative of Local 1063. "All we want is a fair contract."

Mark Schwarz, a Local 1063 member and picketer, added, "If I don't go back to work before long, the bills will begin to stack up. I don't want that. I want to work, like everybody here."

A union telephone message Monday said that employees of the local "were officially locked out and that pickets would be set up." Calls to the plant were referred to Jerry Gura, director of public affairs for Armisted Industries, the Gura said the lockout could affect about 1,000 union employees, which comprise most of the plant's work force.

The contract for Local 1063 expired Sept. 30, but was extended to Sunday. Talks on a new deal failed Saturday, however, causing the lockout, according to a handful of picketing union members. The union said an agreement could not be reached because raises the union asked for, about 40 cents an hour over a yearly period, would

Madison ward boundaries may be redone

Proposals could cost one black alderman position

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A special meeting of the Madison City Council is scheduled for 6 p.m. Wednesday to discuss and possibly vote on changes to the city's ward boundaries. The issue was the subject of very heated discussion at Tuesday's regular council meeting.

One proposal would dilute the racial mixture of the predominantly black 4th Ward, possibly making it difficult for the city's two black aldermen to be reelected. Another proposal would keep the 4th Ward predominantly black, but would place incumbent 1st Ward Alderman Eleanor Armour's residence in that ward.

If that were to happen, she would serve out her term, but would have to seek reelection in the 4th Ward.

The meeting was called after 4th Ward Aldermen Norris Horton and Roshelle Williams-Gardner, the city's two black aldermen, objected to a proposed redrawing of the boundaries at Tuesday's meeting.

The council was set to vote on a proposed restructuring of the wards worked out during a committee meeting last week.

"I'm just asking for another week to do it right," Horton said. The redrawn boundaries would have combined residents of

Highway worker killed in construction accident

By Curtis A. Hartley
Staff writer

A would-be rescuer lost his life Tuesday morning when he was crushed to death in a construction accident along Interstate 70.

Rodney A. Studer, 50, of the 2200 block of East A Street in Belleville, was killed when he went to aid another worker whose hand was caught in a chain, according to witnesses at the scene. Studer tried to help the man, but ended up being dragged into an asphalt spreader and crushed to death. The accident occurred just west of Illinois Route 4, between Troy and St. Jacob.

Deputy Coroner Deborah Von Nida pronounced Studer dead at the scene at 9:15 a.m.

Paramedic Rick Nolan was one of the first rescue workers on the scene, along with members of the Marine volunteer fire department.

"I was told that the individual had fallen into the auger/conveyor belt. He was helping a guy whose finger got caught in a chain on the back of a dump truck, and he was standing on the hopper. It gave way, and he went up inside the machine," Nolan said.

He said the other injured man was stable enough to transport himself to the hospital, and refused treatment on the scene.

Nolan said Studer's body was still inside the machinery when paramedics arrived at the scene of the accident. It took nearly three hours to extract the body from the machine, once the equipment was removed from the highway.

"There was an extensive amount of effort taken to disentangle his body from the machinery," Chief Deputy Coroner Ralph Baahmann Jr. said.

Baahmann said Studer had been working in the middle of a train of paving equipment that moves the asphalt from a dump truck, through a conveyor to the asphalt spreader when the accident happened.

Studer saw a co-worker get his hand snagged in a chain, Baahmann said. Studer went to aid the man, and got tangled in the conveyor, which was still operating.

"Apparently Mr. Studer was

Funding for new bridge could be in place by 2003

Tolls on existing bridges could help pay for new span

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Officials with the Illinois and Missouri transportation departments expect to have engineering completed on a proposed new bridge across the Mississippi River and related improvements in time to seek funding in the next federal transportation bill in 2003 or 2004.

At a briefing Tuesday at Gateway International Raceway in Madison, officials updated approximately 100 local, state and federal officials on the bridge and related projects.

The possibility of tolls on all the river crossings to pay for the local share of the estimated $560 million project was also discussed.

Jim Easterly, district engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation, said highway officials were almost finished with the first of three phases of the project, which includes major changes to the Interstate 64 and 55/70 interchange in Illinois and Missouri exits off the Poplar Street Bridge.

Easterly said the second phase - engineering - should be completed in time for the next federal highway funding bill. If money is available, he said construction could begin in 2005, and the bridge and related improvements could be completed by 2010.

"Realistically, we could have this new interstate system by 2010, if funding is available," he said.

Easterly said the alternative is increased delays getting across the river.

"Congestion will worsen to the point that there will be delays of almost an hour by 2020,"

Food handling is important for safety

TO THE EDITOR:

Despite the fact that the United States has the safest food supply in the world, it is not invincible. In Illinois, it is estimated that as many as 250,000 cases of foodborne illness may occur each year. Yet, many of these illnesses go unreported because the vast majority of them occur in the home. Therefore, how you handle food in your home can mean the difference between health and illness.

Illinois Gov. George H. Ryan has declared September Food Safety Month in Illinois to coincide with National Food Safety Month. The retailers in your area, in cooperation with local health agencies, are taking this opportunity to provide brochures on safe food handling. Simple and straightforward, these brochures - titled "Fight BAC(terial)" - contain proven and effective tips to help consumers handle food safely. They are authored by the Partnership for Food Safety Education and are available at the customer service counters of participating retailers.

The "Fight BAC" campaign is designed to educate consumers on the problem of foodborne illness and to motivate them to take basic sanitation and food handling steps to significantly reduce their risk.

Underlying this education campaign are four principles for preparing food safely and keeping it that way: 1) wash hands and surfaces often; 2) prevent cross-contamination (spreading of germs from raw food to already prepared food); 3) cook foods to proper temperatures; and 4) refrigerate promptly.

Retail food establishments spend countless hours and invest substantial money in training employees, improving food handling techniques, and working with health agencies to constantly ensure the safety of the food supply. But in your home, it is up to you to protect yourself.

As director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, I appreciate the willingness of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, the Illinois Food Retailers Association and their respective members to undertake this consumer education effort. We are proud to be their partners. Education is the only truly effective means of empowering consumers to protect themselves. I would urge everyone to take a moment to look for the "Fight BAC" poster at participating retailers and to ask for the brochure.

Veterans need to lobby park district

TO THE EDITOR:

Conspicuous in their absence from Granite City's Memorial Park are the Merchant Marine, World War II Commemorative, Korean War Veterans and Vietnam Veterans of American flags. American Merchant Marine Veterans S.S. Samuel Parker Chapter, American Legion Posts 113 and 307, AMVETS Posts 51 and 204, Disabled American Veterans Club, Nameoki Bingo Center and Veterans of Foreign Wars

Posts 1306 and 7451 must lobby the Granite City Park District to set up flag staffs flying these veterans commemorative flags in Memorial Park by Veterans Day.

Also, it would be appropriate for the Granite City Police Department and Granite City Park District to dedicate a plaque memorializing the eight Granite City police officers killed in the line of duty.

MTBE may pose health concerns

By Sen. Peter G. Fitzgerald

Over the last 30 years, we have achieved significant success in preventing pollution and cleaning up our environment. Clean air and clean water are among our most important environmental goals.

In 1990, in order to address the problem of ozone pollution in our cities, Congress passed legislation requiring urban areas with the worst ozone pollution to begin selling reformulated gasoline.

Reformulated gasoline is regular gasoline blended with additives that help the fuel burn cleaner and more completely, thereby reducing levels of carbon monoxide and ozone-forming compounds emitted by cars and trucks.

"The additives commonly used today are ethanol, a renewable fuel produced from corn, and methyl tertiary butyl ether, a chemical derived from petroleum."

Different urban areas have met the requirements of the 1990 legislation in different ways. For example, Chicago and Milwaukee have chosen to meet this requirement using ethanol. Many other cities have chosen MTBE. In fact, over 85 percent of reformulated gasoline used in the United States contains MTBE, while only 8 percent contains ethanol.

According to a recent study by the University of California, MTBE may pose numerous health and environmental concerns. MTBE is a known carcinogen and has found its way into between 5 and 10 percent of drinking water supplies in cities that have chosen MTBE. After MTBE enters a water source, it moves quickly and resists degrading, making cleanup problematic and costly.

Finally, once contaminated with MTBE, water becomes undrinkable, with a peculiar pungent smell and taste.

On March 26, California's governor prohibited MTBE use after 2002. The governor based his decision on findings by the University of California that MTBE is an environmental hazard. The EPA established a blue ribbon task force to address the problem. The panel of experts concluded this summer that the use of MTBE must be substantially reduced.

In contrast, ethanol, a renewable oxygenate fuel, has proven to be a viable, environmentally friendly alternative to MTBE. The Chicago reformulated gasoline program, for example, has used ethanol for years. According to the American Lung Association, Chicago has one of the most successful reformulated gasoline programs in the country in improving air quality.

Ethanol is vitally important to our state, since Illinois is the number one producer of ethanol in the nation. Each year, 274 million bushels of Illinois corn are used to produce about 678 million gallons of ethanol. That's one out of every six rows of corn grown in the state. This use of corn is a significant boost to the economy of Illinois - the second largest producer of corn nationwide.

At the time when corn prices are at depression-era lows, and agriculture exports are expected to fall $4.6 billion this year alone - for an overall drop of 18 percent since 1996 - the ethanol market is critical.

On Aug. 4, I joined with my colleague, Sen. Barbara Boxer of California, to lead a successful bipartisan effort to pass a Senate resolution urging the Clinton Administration to phase out MTBE and replace it with ethanol. This resolution will send a strong signal that the Senate strongly supports bio-based fuels and recognizes the need to find viable ways to reduce our dependency on fossil fuels.

Replacing MTBE with ethanol will help keep our air cleaner and ensure safer drinking water for all Americans, while more than doubling ethanol production and adding $3 billion to the farm economy annually. This issue is important to Illinois, American agriculture, our nation's environment and our energy self-sufficiency.

Teen depression can have serious consequences for families, friends

But there is help available for those who are depressed

By Jennifer Saxton
Staff writer

There are many teenagers reaching out for help, but sometimes those teenagers are not taken seriously enough.

Suicide is the second leading cause of death for 15- to 19-year-olds. It is the overall third leading cause of death among young people, next to accidents and homicide.

Sometimes understanding teen depression is a lot easier than spotting someone with it.

A depressed teenager may exhibit certain types of behavior that may include:

- Prolonged loss of interest in home, work and personal appearance

- Sudden changes and excesses in eating or sleeping habits

- Frequent and uncontrolled crying

- Lingering, unfocused nervousness or grouching

- Persistent feelings of hopelessness and futility

- Low self-esteem

Deborah Lexow is in her fifth year as a guidance counselor at North Junior High School. She said they try to impress the importance on students to tell a grown-up when they or someone they know feels there is no other option than suicide.

Every year, Lexow speaks to every classroom about issues such as depression.

drugs and other serious topics.

"When I address the suicide issue, I tell them to say something to a grown-up whether it is a teacher, a parent, a counselor or even a hall monitor," Lexow said.

Family Life Consultants Inc. representatives say there are many ways someone can do to help a teenager in need. They are simple alternatives that include:

- Get involved. Don't ignore your teen's depression or the depression of a teen that you know.

- Don't blame your teen for the depression. It is important to remember depression is a chemical imbalance that needs support, understanding and professional care.

- Get a professional involved. Locate a therapist for you and your adolescent.

- Keep a safe home. Remove access to weapons and guns.

- Understand that the images that we all deal with in the media are increasingly depressing and violent.

Peggy Lemons is the department chairperson for the guidance office at Collinsville High School. She said they don't take any message from a student, who is exhibiting emotional upset, lightly.

"We try to work along with the social worker to see what may be causing the feelings a student may be having and try to help from there," Lemons said.

Madison may redraw boundaries the predominantly black 4th Ward with the predominantly white Cloverleaf subdivision, which was recently annexed into the city.

Horton questioned the legality of a committee meeting in which the proposed map was drawn, questioned why some city areas were not included in the redistricting, said the proposed boundaries were gerrymandered, and asked that the council wait before coming to a decision.

He distributed a proposed map that would have left each of the four wards with relatively equal population, but would have put the recently annexed East Madison and Cloverleaf areas into the city's 3rd Ward. The only alderman that would be affected by Horton's plan would be Armour.

The last ward redistricting

"I'm just asking for another week to do it right."

Norris Horton
Madison City Council member

was conducted in 1982.

Horton said the committee meeting in question was illegal because it was a Committee of the Whole meeting, not a committee meeting.

The Committee of the Whole is a meeting of all aldermen. At Committee of the Whole meetings, all aldermen can vote on whether to consider an issue at a regular council meeting, but no final action can be taken. In a committee meeting, other aldermen can attend, but only committee members may vote.

According to minutes of the committee meeting, other council members were present, but only committee members voted on the map. It was approved 3-1, with Horton voting no.

At Tuesday's meeting, Horton questioned the "compactness and contiguity" of the proposed redistricting. The 4th Ward would contain West Madison, then skirt the city's boundary with Venice and pick up the Cloverleaf area. Other wards would remain relatively compact.

Another issue was the inclusion of unpopulated areas of the city, such as Chouteau Island and the Gateway International Raceway area.

Those areas were not included in the redrawn ward maps because they lacked population, but City Attorney John Papa said they should be

Bridge funding could be in place by 2004

he said. The increased congestion will also lead to more accidents and fatalities, and economic stagnation because of the delays.

The new bridge and related highway improvements are one part of an overall traffic plan.

However, the bridge is considered the most important part.

The bridge would be built about a mile south of the McKinley Bridge. Interstate 70 traffic would be diverted off Poplar Street Bridge to the new bridge, which would also connect to Interstate 64.

Illinois 203 near Gateway International Raceway and a reconfigured Illinois Route 3 near Brooklyn. In Missouri it would connect with the existing Interstate 70 and Tucker and 14th Street in downtown St. Louis.

The Illinois Route 3 relocation is a separate project that will create a four-lane highway from Venice to Sauget. Funding for construction of the northern portion of the road from Venice to the new bridge has been approved.

The cost of the bridge project is estimated at $560 million. About $100 million of the $560 million would be for the actual bridge. The remaining funds will be spent on other major intersections.

"We also believe the new crossing would lead to (economic) opportunities on both sides of the river," he said. Easterly said tolls on all the river bridges may be an option to pay for the project.

"They are going to be discussed as a possible source of funding," he said.

If tolls would be used, he said they would have to be placed on all bridges or it would "distort" traffic patterns.

A public hearing on the project was held Wednesday at East St. Louis City Hall.

In addition to the bridge and highway improvements, the plan calls for a traffic control center in downtown St. Louis to monitor traffic congestion. The information would be given to tow-truck operators and motorists. The traffic controllers would also be able to adjust some traffic signals to allow better movement.

There would also be a transit pricing program for peak-period passengers on MetroLink between the Illinois and Missouri stations. This would allow people to ride MetroLink for as little as 35 cents.

Studies show that transit pricing could increase MetroLink ridership by as much as 20 percent and increases to service - especially the St. Clair County extension to MidAmerica Airport, will also reduce road traffic.

IDOT will continue to accept written comments on the project. Comments can be mailed or faxed to Easterly at 102 Eastport Plaza Drive, Collinsville, or sent by e-mail to easterly@nt.dot.state.il.us.

Construction worker dies in I-70 accident unaware that the conveyor was still engaged, even though the spreader had been shut down, and he stood at the back of the shuttle buggy to try to assist the worker whose hand was caught in the chain. In so doing, he was caught or fell into the conveyor," he said.

Baahmann said the operator of the spreader was not aware that Studer was in trouble until he heard him shouting.

He then disengaged the conveyor, but Studer was already pulled through the conveyor and crushed.

An autopsy will be performed Wednesday at the Madison County Morgue.

The cause of death appears obvious. However, in an industrial accident, an autopsy is a matter of routine protocol," he said.

The Illinois State Police District 11 office in Collinsville is still investigating the accident.

Fellow workers return to job after colleague's death

By Curtis A. Harley
Staff writer
Construction crews went back to Wednesday resurfacing Interstate 70 near St. Jacob; the day after a co-worker was crushed to death in a freak accident.

Rodney A. Studer, 50, of 2213 East A Street in Belleville, was killed when he went to aid another worker whose hand was caught in a chain, according to witnesses at the scene. Studer tried to help the man, but ended up being dragged into an asphalt spreader and crushed to death.

The accident occurred just west of Illinois Route 4, between Troy and St. Jacob. Studer was part of a work crew from MacLair Asphalt Company that was laying asphalt in the westbound lanes of Interstate 70. He had been on the job for about three weeks, a company official said. Studer had worked for MacLair for almost three years.

Tim Docter, an owner of MacLair Asphalt Company, said the men on the highway construction crew decided on their own that Studer would have wanted them to be together working today.

"The crew met yesterday and they talked about it, and they just decided it would be better to be together working today, instead of sitting at home alone," Docter said. "They're doing pretty well, considering. They're a pretty remarkable bunch of guys. Rod was a great guy, and he probably would have been mad if we hadn't gone back to work."

Docter said the young man whose hand was injured in the accident is struggling to come to grips with the ordeal.

"He didn't come to work today. He's pretty traumatized. He actually saw the guy go in. We've got counseling for him, but he's pretty shook up," Docter said.

Docter would not identify to young man, but said that he is recovering at home. He said the man received stitches in his hand from injuries suffered in the accident.

"He got his hand caught in a chain on the back of the dump truck that was getting ready to dump the asphalt into a machine. The truck was backed up and starting to dump the asphalt, and the laborer reached up to adjust the chain," Docter said. "The chain had a kink in it," he said. "What they normally do is use a shovel and smack it. For some reason he reached up with his hand and got caught."

No one knows why Studer reacted the way he did, Docter said.

"Mr. Studer, God will only know why, jumped up onto the edge of the hopper, and when he did, he slipped," he said. "The control to shut the machine off was right there next to him."

Marquette's Coughlin advances in tourney

Noah Vinyard of Roxana and Brian Coughlin of Alton Marquette Catholic are moving on to the next level in Class A boys golf.

Vinyard and Coughlin both advanced individually through the Greenville Class A Regional on Tuesday at the Governors Run Course in Carlyle. Coughlin shot a score of 78, while Vinyard came through with an 81.

However, neither the Shells nor the Explorers were fortunate enough to send their teams on to next week's West Frankfort Sectional.

Nashville, Columbia, Breese

Nashville, Columbia, Breese Mater Dei, Red Bud squads survive IHSAA Class A Greenville Regional

Mater Dei and Red Bud secured those honors.

Nashville's Hornets shot a winning score of 307, 12 shots better than Columbia. Mater Dei came in at 328, and Red Bud was at 330. Roxana came in fifth at 341 and Marquette was sixth at 344.

Both teams (Roxana and Marquette Catholic) kept themselves in the hunt, but to get through to the sectional, you have to be the young 'A' game on that day," Shells coach Mark Scroggins said.

"Both teams gave a good effort today," Marquette coach Jerry Montague added. "We did about the best we could do. The teams from down south played very well."

Kyle Chappell (83), Jon Kleeman (85) and Ryan Marcuzzo (92).

For Marquette, it was Ben Kuddes (86), Vince Lucido (87) and Ryan Hosiart (93) and Pat Heintz (93).

Metro East Lutheran of Edwardsville came in eighth at 356. David Jun (84) and Daniel Schoenleber (84), as well as Chris Schelp (86) and David Jun, (89) figured in the Knights' scoring.

Elsewhere, Staunton made it out of the Auburn Class A Regional and into next Tuesday's Havana Sectional.

The Bulldogs shot a 340 score at Auburn to finish fourth and grab the last team spot for sectional play.

Rochester (312), Pittsfield (327) and Hillsboro (332) wound up first, second and third, respectively.

Michael Buncham of Rochester shot 75 for individual honors.

John Calderaro was Staunton's top golfer. He shot 79, or 8-over par, at the Edgewood Country Club Course. Ryan Brown was the Bulldogs' second-best shooter. He recorded an 84.

Edwardsville squads claim county championships

By Steve Porter

Nellie Shaul put the Edwardsville Tigers on solid footing, and Andy Bratten took them to higher ground Tuesday in the 21st annual Madison County cross country meet.

Shaul finished second in the girls race and Bratten won the boys event as the Tigers swept the field for the second straight year in the county run at Southern Illinois University-

Granite City boys place second in meet with 31 points

Edwardsville.

"We wanted to win the championship on both sides again," said Bratten, an Edwardsville senior who toured the 3.1-mile course in a winning time of 16 minutes 42 seconds. "I think we're doing really well."

The Tigers scored 22 points in the boys race to finish ahead of Granite City, runner-up with 31 points. Alton was third with 85 points.

The Edwardsville girls team easily won its event by scoring 20 points.

Highland was second with 50 points and Civic Memorial came in third with 115 points.

"We told the kids that the championship series starts today and they got the job done," Edwardsville coach Jim Price said. "After this, it's the boys race to finish ahead of Granite City, runner-up with 31 points. Alton was third with 85 points."

"Our boys have a chance to win the sectional and so do the girls, but there's no room for error," Edwardsville's girls did about everything right at the county meet. Shaul was runner-up in 16:58, teammate Bailey Nichols ran third in 17:06, Courtney Mudd was fourth in 17:39, Sarah Dortch took fifth in 17:34 and Sue Nucete placed sixth in 17:35.

Highland's Stephanie Gruender won the race in 16:47.

"It was an OK race, but I would have liked to do better," Shaul said. "The way the team is running, I think we will be in good shape for the regional and sectional. Everybody is feeding off one another and it was nice to win here today because this is our last regular-season home meet."

In the boys race, Bratten was one of four Edwardsville runners to finish in the top eight places. Freshman Steve Pifer finished third at 16:59. Matt Shearer of the Tigers was fifth in 17:26. Mike Mudd came in sixth at 17:35 and Joel Keller was seventh in 17:40.

"It wasn't my best race," Bratten said. "I felt OK, but I didn't have a

But Harris got the Warriors even, beating Beth Lawson 6-2, 6-3.

The Granite doubles teams had no problem with the Redbirds. Isom and Seibold beat Nancy Engelmann and Mary Lewey 6-0, 6-1. Krista Morton and Sarah Dettwiler beat Kelli Knight and Jennifer Ryrie 6-0, 6-2.

Doty and Jenkins finished off the Redbirds by beating Abbey Bates and Elizabeth Perica 7-5, 6-3.

"Julie LeMaster played the match of her life," Ames said. "She won in three. Ashley lost a tough three-set match. Our doubles all ran away with it. Tiffany didn't play real well that day and lost at third singles. Jolene came back and played a good match at fourth singles. Overall it was a good performance."

Granite hosted Waterloo

Tuesday and treated their guests to a rude 6-1 awakening. LeMaster beat Tera Steppig 6-1, 6-3 at No. 1 singles. Burdge smoked Carrie Fontman at No. 2, winning 6-0, 6-0, and Rath knocked off Sheri Norcutt 6-1, 6-3.

Harris won the first game 7-5 but dropped the next two 1-6, 4-6 for the Warriors' only defeat.

Isom and Seibold beat Amber Eschmann and Danielle Avett 6-3, 6-3, and Morton and Dettwiler beat Stephanie Mitchell and Jenny Lutz 6-3, 6-1.

Doty and Jenkins beat Connie Culton and Kathryn Bieber 6-2, 6-3 at No. 3 doubles.

"Jolene was the only one who lost, and she lost a three-set match," Ames said. "That was unfortunate, but it happens. She played well and everybody else won very easily. It wasn't even a contest anywhere. So we were happy with them."

The improvements have been apparent, especially with the Warriors No. 1 singles player.

"The varsity girls and the junior varsity girls have all progressively gotten better through the course of the year," Ames said. "Probably the girl who I have seen the most improvement in, as far as hitting the ball better, is Julie LeMaster. She was very sluggish at the beginning of the year, and she is hitting the ball much better now. There is a likelihood that she and Ashley will play (doubles) at sectionals this year, and they could do something."

The Warriors finished the regular season at 6-9 and will begin the Southwestern Conference Tournament this weekend. Sectionals are set for the following Friday.

they are in a close match."

Granite City not only celebrated its seniors but also hosted the future as volleyball players from area middle schools Holy Family, St. Elizabeth, Coolidge and Grigsby were in attendance.

"We are really excited because a lot of these (high school) kids played for us at Grigsby," said Gators volleyball coach Connie King, whose team is 10-1 this season. "I think they are doing really well. We want our kids to see what the next level is like. We also like for them to get to see those other kids that they know from before."

"We have done this before, this is about the fourth or fifth year that we have had Middle School Night, and it has really been helpful."

"We always try to incorporate the middle schools into at least one night of the year," Layton said. "It is so that they can see what they should aspire to, how we play as a team, where their skills need to go, and how very important the basic fundamentals of passing, serving and playing as a team are. If our passing fails, and our serving fails, then we are having trouble scoring 15 points."

The Warriors still have regular season matches against Collinsville, Belleville East and Hazelwood (Mo.) Central before the IHSAA Regionals begin on Oct. 26.

Warriors win opener in tournament

"The backfield was pretty steady - Jarod (McMillian), Jeremy (Hickam) and Phil (Reader). They did a good job on pool players. Rich (Edwards) was his usual self, played a nice game."

The Warriors raised their record to 10-3 overall. Granite City was scheduled to play St. Charles (Mo.) West on Wednesday afternoon in pool play.

"We told them to come out hard (on Tuesday) because we have to put something together at this time of the year," Baker said. "The game after the good game is the important one. We have to be able to handle that."

The Warriors finish round-robin play tonight at 7:45 against Blue Springs.

The semifinals will start Saturday morning at 9 a.m., with the Steel City Shoot-Out and finals set for 5:30 and 7 p.m. respectively.

FROM LAST WEEK

WINSTON CUP SERIES
 Who knew that once Jeff Gordon managed to rid himself of that pesky Evernham character, he'd resume his domination of the Winston Cup Series?
 Just kidding, Ray.
 One gorgeous fall afternoon does not a season make, but Gordon's victory over Dale Earnhardt in the NAPA 500 at Martinsville should quiet all the tantalizing doubt as to how Gordon will fare now that his Svengali has moved along.
 As fifth-place finisher Kenny Wallace noted, "He (Gordon) wanted to prove to us that he didn't need Ray (Evernham), and he did that."
 Adding authority to the statement, Gordon vanquished Earnhardt at just the type of bruising, wheel-metal-trading game that Earnhardt prefers. It was Gordon's third victory at Martinsville Speedway, Earnhardt, 20 years older, has six.
 The new crew chief, Brian Whitesell, took the reins without a hitch, and the latest Gordon conquest did not look markedly different from any other.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Tony Stewart vs. Kenny Irwin

These two one-time sprint-car stars have never fully dropped the old rivalry from the dirt tracks, and at Martinsville it blossomed into a destructive demolition derby. Stewart bumped Irwin twice, spinning him out, and Irwin retaliated with a knock-out punch that was almost surely intentional. "I raced him the way he raced me," said Irwin.

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "It's easy to say that cooler heads should have prevailed, but cooler heads are rarely found in the cockpits of stock cars engaged in the heat of battle. On the other hand, the day's activities will probably serve only to add to the growing Stewart legend. Could it be that the next Dale Earnhardt could actually not be Dale Jr.?"

PROFILE

Johnny Benson

John Chalk/NASCAR This Week

Johnny Benson has yet to win in 122 Winston Cup starts.

By Monte Dutton
 NASCAR This Week

For those who predicted great things for Johnny Benson in the Winston Cup Series, the last few years have been a mystery.

Benson, a former Busch Grand National rookie of the year and champion and a former Cup rookie of the year, has had two tough years driving the No. 26 Ford.

Having obtained a release from his obligations at Roush Racing, Benson has not yet announced new plans for the 2000 season.

Benson drove his first two seasons in Pontiacs owned by Chuck Ryder. Before that, he was American Speed Association rookie of the year in 1990 and ASA champion in 1993.

At Roush Racing, Benson failed to qualify for the 1998 Daytona 500, but then recovered by finishing 10th in seven of the next 10 races. He has two top-10 finishes this year.

The secret to becoming a great Winston Cup driver? Benson says it's "being yourself."

AGE: 36
 HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Grand Rapids, Mich., resides in Cornelius, N.C.

WIFE: Debbie

CHILDREN: Katelyn Rae (3), Mikayla Jay (will be 2 on Nov. 21)

CAR: No. 26 Cheerios Ford Taurus, owned by Roush Racing

RECORD: 122 starts, 2 poles, 0 wins, 4 top-five finishes, 26 top-10s, nearly $5 million in career earnings

FIRSTS: Start (Feb. 18, 1996, at Daytona), pole (March 10, 1996, at Atlanta), win (none)

DOES THE FACT THAT THERE HAVE BEEN TWO RECENT FIRST-TIME WINNERS ENCOURAGE YOU? "Yeah, I was hoping Loudon (N.H.) would have worked out. We ran good and ended up seventh. I was doing everything I could, but Joe (Nemechek) won it."

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE TO WIN? "I think it's just a matter of having a really good race car coming off the truck and then being able to fine-tune it the whole weekend. ... You've got to qualify in the top 10. I think if you're in the top 10 and you've got a good race car, then things could shape up. I think that's the best opportunity."

True Fellowship begins offering Biblical classes

A new "church-located" Bible Institute has recently been established in Madison, according to the Rev. L.D. Tate of True Fellowship Missionary Baptist Church.

The new Lay Academy Bible Institute offers a three-year diploma and bachelor's degree in Biblical studies to students who satisfactorily complete the required and elective courses. Enrollment is open to the public.

Tate said, "We recently linked up with IBI Publishers of Santa Fe Springs, Calif., and organization which provides structured Bible courses for use in churches. This association brings us a first-rate faculty and enables us to train students at a modest cost."

Courses are taught in 13-week semesters. Beginning in Genesis, participants journey through the Bible to make treasured discoveries concerning God's Message, Significant Biblical Events, God's Dealings with Individuals, Families and Nations. Enrollment is going on now. Those interested may call the registrar at 877-8783; those calling will be given information regarding the current semester.

The first course in the series is entitled "The Pentateuch." The cost for the course is as follows: Student registration fee, $10; cassette lectures in album, $21 (optional); study guide, $7; printed lectures, $8; tuition, $75 (per credit unit). All fees and costs must be paid prior to participation in the class.

Classes meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays and from 10 a.m. to noon and from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays. The semester will begin Monday with orientation; classes will convene Oct. 18.

Cahokia Mounds presents 'Heritage America' event

Heritage America made its way to Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site on Oct. 1, 2 and 3. With Native American dances, crafts and food, spectators could experience history. At the event were several tribes such as the Comanche, Cherokee, Ojibwa and Pawnee. Despite the weather, many visitors, young and old, still came to witness the spectacular culture and traditions.

Susan Wilhauk holds granddaughter Audrey Thurston.

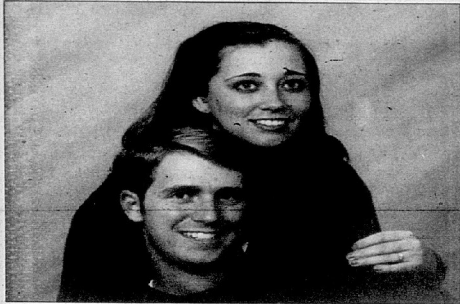

Maggie Baumgartner, of Caseyville and her cousin, Daniel Smith, keep warm with an Indian blanket.

Barb McBride and her son Matthew, of O'Fallon look over some Native American wares.

Wedding

NICOLE GRAVES AND CHRISTOPHER MILTON

The bride is the daughter of Michael and Margaret Graves of Granite City. IP launches program promoting gas safety

As patches of frost signal the start of cooler weather, Illinois Power reminds natural gas customers to have their heating systems checked out. Customers can call heating and ventilating contractors in their area for the recommended once-a-year servicing. "One of the best ways to avoid problems, like gas leaks inside the home or the presence of dangerous carbon monoxide, is to get a trained professional to give your system a good checkup prior to cold weather," Rick Law, Gas Project manager for Illinois Power, said. "Likewise, it's a good time to make sure everyone in the family knows what to do when they suspect gas is present in the home." Natural gas is a colorless, tasteless, non-toxic, non-poisonous, flammable gas that can be detected by its distinctive sulfur odor. Leaks may also be accompanied by a hissing noise and dead or dying vegetation over buried gas lines. Natural gas customers should leave the home, then call the toll-free 24-hour Customer Answer Center at (800) 755-6900 if they smell natural gas or suspect a leak. Carbon Monoxide is a colorless, tasteless and odorless gas. It can be both toxic and poisonous. It's caused by the incomplete combustion of fuel, such as natural gas, oil, propane, gasoline, coal or wood. Illinois Power recommends that customers evacuate and seek emergency medical attention immediately if they experience headaches, nausea, dizziness, drowsiness, vomiting or convulsions. "If a customer is experiencing carbon monoxide poisoning symptoms or has a CO detector go off, that customer should call 911, the local fire department or local emergency medical service," Law said. "In the past, some customers have called Illinois Power, but our personnel are not trained to administer medical treatment and valuable time can be lost if we are the first responder to a medical call." A majority of fire departments in IP's service territory are equipped and trained in carbon monoxide detection and many have already been responding to these calls. Illinois Power will assist fire departments in our service

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7

Some travel plans will be canceled due to weather and priority shifts. Now that the sun is in Capricorn, it is far more important to be satisfied in various life roles than to travel, search and expand your influence. The moon is in Aquarius, bringing friends close. Impromptu retreats to the cozy homes of loved ones will refuel and inspire us.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

A new person enters your life and brings delightful changes. A visit to relatives brings money and help for your children. New jobs are linked to a change in your duties. Decide on one of your new year's resolutions tonight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

You could spend a lot of time waiting while taking care of minor tasks, so bring those last-minute holiday cards to address while you wait. Take time out to deal with practical matters with family. Romance seems inevitable.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

A sense of humor and your ability to put things in perspective will help move things along. An important investment or real-estate tip comes your way. Save or plan now, so you can take advantage of opportunity later.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Someone seemingly opposite to you in many ways turns out to be a good partner. The question of marriage may again arise. Bide your time in a current conflict with a lover. Avoid acting hastily in an investment matter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

A creative solution is brewing; look for ways to avoid being in the middle. Maintain your dignity. Don't let the opinion of a family member bother you too much. Someone talks a fascinating line, but beware.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(Oct. 7). This year will likely be one of personal commitments and goals achieved. You are learning how to make requests and get the results you need. Singles tap into tremendous luck in February by choosing one love and pursuing this person with enthusiasm. Give more of yourself in March, and you'll be happier, healthier and more attractive

Traveling exhibition sets up at The Saint Louis Art Museum

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Whether to impress, hide, terrify or protect, masks have played an important role in human society since cave dwellers started painting on walls.

Masks: Faces of Culture, an exhibit at the St. Louis Art Museum, will feature masks ranging from modern-day catchers' masks to 3,500-year-old funerary masks.

The 146 masks in the exhibition, including 30 with full costumes, come from almost 50 countries on six continents.

The exhibit will be on display at the St. Louis Art Museum Oct. 9 through Jan. 2; from Feb. 19 to May 14 at Field Museum, Chicago, and from June 25 to Oct. 1 at the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston.

Free events include: Exhibition lectures - is scheduled for Friday. Exhibition curators Cara McCarty and John Nunley will speak at 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Doors will open 30 minutes before each lecture.

Makeup as Masks is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Hollywood makeup artist Robert Mills will show various forms of theater and fantasy masking. Mills' experience working on more than 60 feature films includes "Planet of the Apes," "Pretty Woman" and "Beaches," from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday; 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 2:30 to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Theater Masks is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The Commedia della Collina troupe of Washington University will perform from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Masks in the Theater - Identity and Transformation is scheduled for Oct. 12. Robert Henke, associate professor of drama and comparative literature at Washington University, will discuss the use of masks in the rituals of pre-industrialized cultures, then examine how the theater has incorporated some of these ritualistic functions at 8 p.m.

Masks: Faces of Culture is scheduled for Oct. 19. A slide presentation narrated by exhibition curators McCarty and Nunley will take place from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

On Oct. 16, all family members can get their creative juices flowing from noon to 5 p.m. Activities will include maskmaking from noon to 2:30 p.m., a parade of masks at 3 p.m., and performances at 4 and 7:30 p.m. by the Umoja African Arts Company, a Congolese dance company that appeared at the museum last fall.

'Mumford' shares its main character's delusions

These are troubled times for Mumford, the town — and Mumford, the man, has hung out his psychologist shingle to bring mental balance to the community's mildly maladjusted denizens.

The problem is, Mumford, the man, has hidden troubles of his own that make Mumford's townsfolk appear as orderly as the women of "The Stepford Wives."

Lawrence Kasdan's new comedy, "Mumford" is a slick, well-crafted but ultimately shallow glimpse into small-town anxieties and phobias, fetishes and fixations.

Written, directed and co-produced by Kasdan, "Mumford," the movie, suffers from delusions similar to those of one of its characters, a chubby pharmacist who has film-noir fantasies in which he's a handsome roughneck that women find irresistible. Like the pharmacist, "Mumford" is pleasant but ordinary, while desperately wanting to be more than it is.

Loren Dean stars as Dr. Mumford, a newcomer who has quickly become the most popular therapist in the little town with the same name. Benign and baby-faced, Mumford is blessed by acute empathy with the psychological ticks and terrors that afflict his patients.

"I understand what it's like to want to leave a problem behind," says Mumford as he spins his own tale to a patient, a tale filled with more hang-ups and deviant behavior than the rest of the town combined.

Having survived raging fires and demons of his own, Mumford sets about dousing the brush fires and gremlins that plague others (and eventually reveals why he and his adopted town share the same name).

Among his patients: Pruitt Taylor Vince as the wishful pharmacist; Mary McDonnell as an unhappy wife with mail-order mania; Jason Lee as a scruffy, billionaire modern mogul who can't connect with women; and Zoey Deschanel as a teen who wants to live in the beautiful, two-dimensional world of fashion ads.

Alfie Woodard and Loren Dean in a scene from the Buena Vista Pictures release, "Mumford."

The ensemble cast also includes Alfie Woodard, Ted Danson, Jane Adams, Martin

Short and Robert Stack in fictional segments of his TV series "Unsolved Mysteries."

'Mystery, Alaska': melodrama part drags on

'Ally McBeal' producer David E. Kelley's new comedy falls flat on the ice

Russell Crowe and Burt Reynolds in a scene from the Hollywood Pictures' release, "Mystery, Alaska."

The fanatical hockey players of Mystery, Alaska, a mythical Mudville where the path of glory is paved with ice, are watching a videotape of their next unlikely opponent, the New York Rangers.

As a brawl among the NHL stars drags on, one of the Mystery players offers a suggestion to help prepare for the game: "Maybe we should fast-forward to the hockey part."

If only the makers of "Mystery, Alaska" had followed that cue.

"Mystery" enters sudden death from the outset. The first two-thirds of this Cinderella-on-ice story drags its tail like a defenseman who's been on the rink for a full period without a breather.

After an hour of tedious melodrama, the movie comes alive only when the Rangers arrive for a bizarre open-air game against the home team.

How strange that the movie lingers along so woodenly before then, considering it's the latest big-screen entry from small-screen scribe and producer David E. Kelley, this year's double Emmy winner for "Ally McBeal" and "The Practice."

Kelley co-wrote and co-produced the character-driven "Mystery," but there's little evidence of the sharp dialogue from his character-driven TV shows.

There's a fine ensemble cast featuring Russell Crowe, Hank Azaria, Lolita Davidovich, Mary McCormack, Colm Meaney and Burt Reynolds as the patriarchal town judge and hockey coach. But there's just not much for them to sink their skates into.

The idea was a sound one for the sort of eccentric characterizations Kelley excels at. Mystery, Alaska, a town of 633 somewhere in the wastelands north of Fairbanks, lives for its Saturday hockey games.

60 feature films includes "Planet of the Apes," "Pretty Woman" and "Beaches," from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday; 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 2:30 to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Theater Masks is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The Commedia della Collina troupe of Washington University will perform from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Masks in the Theater - Identity and Transformation is scheduled for Oct. 12. Robert Henke, associate professor of drama and comparative literature at Washington University, will discuss the use of masks in the rituals of pre-industrialized cultures, then examine how the theater has incorporated some of these ritualistic functions at 8 p.m.

Masks: Faces of Culture is scheduled for Oct. 19. A slide presentation narrated by exhibition curators McCarty and Nunley will take place from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

On Oct. 16, all family members can get their creative juices flowing from noon to 5 p.m. Activities will include maskmaking from noon to 2:30 p.m., a parade of masks at 3 p.m., and performances at 4 and 7:30 p.m. by the Umoja African Arts Company, a Congolese dance company that appeared at the museum last fall.

The Piwacket Theatre for Children will have live plays at various times during the exhibition. The cost is $6 for adults and $4 for children. For more information, call Piwacket at (314) 963-8800.

There will also be films, informal talks, and other events. For more information, call (314) 721-0072, extension 204, or (314) 721-4807 (TDD).

The museum is open from 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Admission to the museum is free. However, there is an admission to Masks. The cost is $8 for adults, $6 for students and seniors 55 and older, $4 for children ages 6 to 12, and free for children under 6. The exhibition is free on Tuesdays, and to museum members.

'Mumford' shares title character's delusions

Yet in the end, the spell Mumford has woven over the town rings as false as his methods. These people's little foibles are one-dimensional and overblown, as is their adulation for Dr. Mumford, who spouts empty pleasantries that his patients accept as revelations.

But his only real answer is romance, playing matchmaker for himself and Sofie along with his other patients. While the movie flashes shots of Stack telling TV viewers that just maybe, they can help solve a mystery, "Mumford" plays out as superficially as an installment of "The Dating Game."

And it's a long stretch to expect that the townspeople, especially Sofie, would so quickly forgive Dr. Mumford once the truth about him comes out. No matter how much his patients feel he's helped, Mumford has, after all, been privy to their deepest secrets by deception.

As in his films "The Big Chill" and "Grand Canyon," Kasdan succeeds at creating a polished little world filled with people you might like to spend time with. "Mumford" is skillfully edited, with gritty flashbacks of Dr. Mumford's dark origins nicely balancing the community's idyllic life and a pretty musical montage showing the characters tying up loose ends and getting their lives in order.

The problems of Mumford the town, along with Mumford the man's solutions, are a mile wide and half an inch deep. And that's the real drawback for "Mumford," the movie.

"Mumford," distributed by Disney, is rated R. -Associated Press on the job scene.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Review the recent past, and you'll come up with all of the answers you need to make an important romantic decision. Watch out for the flu bug; exercise and eat well to keep it away. Release your grip on a losing proposition.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). A sad parting could turn out to be only temporary. Trust your perceptive powers. Spontaneous family outings go well. A short trip could prove useful for resolving an important matter in business.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Obstacles cannot be avoided for long, so confront them with confidence. Humor could be instrumental in saving a sticky situation. An activity you thought of as only a hobby could have money-making potential.

'Mystery, Alaska'

The players enter their pond rink along a snaking ice trail to the reverential cheers of the fans. The town fathers painstakingly assess each player's performance. Schoolchildren gossip over who might get dumped from the team and what fresh young skater might be "going up."

The town catches the NHL's eye when an expatriate Mystery native (Azaria) lands an article in Sports Illustrated, hyperbolically stating that Mystery's players can skate with the best of the pros.

The league decides to dispatch the Rangers to Mystery for an exhibition game, bringing dreams of glory and terror of failure to the town.

"What if we lose this game 25-zip?" Crowe, the town sheriff, asks Azaria. "You brought back the one thing that could tear the heart out of this place."

Amid the tumult of the Rangers' visit comes a spate of small-town problems. The mayor's wife is cheating on him with one of the hockey players. Crowe grapples with age as he's cut from the team in favor of a younger skater. A grocery clerk, one of the team's key players, is put on trial for shooting a corporate spy from retail behemoth Price World in the foot.

None of this is terribly interesting, though. The situations are milked excessively for what is little more than piffing drama, choking off the few humorous forays in the first part of the film, such as the team's method of punishment: Forcing a player to slide feet first into a snow bank wearing only a jock-strap.

"Mystery, Alaska," needed a heavier dose of the wit and oddity that characterized the small-screen "Northern Exposure," set in fictional Cicely, Alaska, or Kelley's own "Picket Fences." It's a mystery why a talent like Kelley couldn't deliver a big-league script.

"Mystery, Alaska," is rated R.
